Additional comments

#11 Basing pay on performance will only work if there is a fair way to evaluate the performance. Basing it on test scores does not truly show the effectiveness of the teacher. I am concerned that this would allow school based administrators to manipulate the performance by student class assignment. We need to find a way to effectively implement performance pay that is fair to all teachers without the possibility of manipulation. I don't know how possible this can be.

#34 I believe that spending per student should be determined after we look at how much can be saved in the Administration and Management at DPI. We must have local control to effectively improve the educational system in NC. Historically, throwing more money into education has never improved education. We need to rethink the funding formula.
